God's Flashlight

by Don Livesay
President, Lake Union Conference

One of the fun things about a Camporee is the variety of flashlights I see Pathfinders carrying at night. Some flashlights are so small they look more like a pen while others looks like a small tape measure. There are lots of medium sizes, but sometimes I see flashlights on steroids. They are huge multi-battery mechanisms with bulbs that are inches across, that if pointed south from Oshkosh might be seen as far away as Chicago (not really).

Psalm 119:105 says, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." When the psalmist wrote this, he was not thinking about one of those monster lights that could illuminate our future lives for months or years to come. Sometimes we wish for the ability to see what today's choices will mean for our future. Will going to this school be a good thing? What about this new friend, will he or she be a productive relationship or bring pain and problems?

The author was undoubtedly thinking of a small lamp, made of clay, in the shape of a bowl, with some oil and a crude wick. When held in the palm of your hand on a dark night, that kind of lamp would give off just enough light...for the next step.

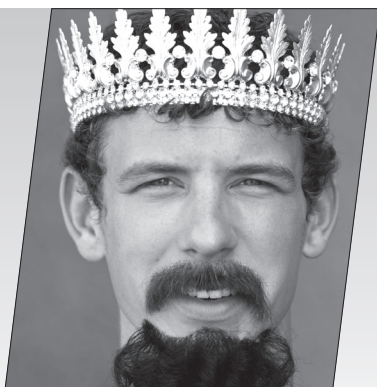

Actually, Psalm 119:105 is a great promise! While we may wish for detailed knowledge of our future, God knows better. Each of us will experience both good and bad things in our future. If we knew those things about our future, we would be distracted from living our lives for God today. Today is God where God wants our focus—living life for Him.

As He lights up the pathway just in front of us, we are able to see where to step next. When we step into God's light, we are following His plan for us. When we take that step His light then illuminates the next step, in our path of life. Step after step, we are walking by faith with God. The result is a life of joy, success and happiness.

So as you use your flashlight at this wonderful Camporee, remember that God's Word is the ultimate light to guide the pathways of your life.

drama SPOTLIGHT Xerxes

Daniel Cooper is a junior at Southern Adventist University in Tennessee. He has a passion for the arts and is pursuing a major in animation. An avid lover of music and acting, Daniel has portrayed characters in several church productions. He has also played main character roles in various plays at summer camp.

"I've always enjoyed acting," says Daniel, "and when the opportunity to audition for this production came up, I decided to try out for the part."

In his role as Xerxes, Daniel finds himself relating to his character, saying, "God is what I need to survive. He is my hope." He has also witnessed how God can work miracles in his life and in the lives of others.

Daniel admits that when he was younger, Esther's story held a basic message but no deep meaning in his life. Now that he is older and portraying a character in the story, he realizes that Esther was not only brave, but also a woman who put her faith completely in God. He hopes that Pathfinders will learn to do that through the play this week. He says, "God blessed the whole cast opening night, I think it went very well. It was really fun."

Daniel aspires to one day create children's animated videos and raise a family.

We found the oldest Master Guide at Oshkosh!

Donna Hooper, a 91-year-old Master Guide for the Calhoun Cherokees of Georgia, has been involved with Pathfinders for over 35 years.

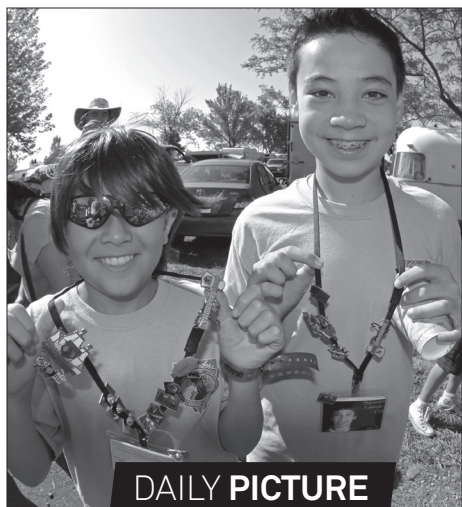

She was born on July 28, 1918, and was named a Master Comrade at the age of 16. Born in Hinsdale, Ill., she grew up on a small Missouri farm before moving to Calhoun, Ga., where she currently resides.

Donna loves her Pathfinders and has a strong passion for young people. "I love to help the children," she says, "and I enjoy teaching them. I've taught several honors, like Cats, Sand and some crafts. I need help now, though," she laughs. "I can't keep up with the kids!"

In 2000, Donna went to Haiti with a church group for a mission trip. She assisted in the medical clinic as a nurse and even found herself riding through the streets on a motorcycle. Her sense of adventure and love for the youth has kept her involved with them for over 73 years, before it was even officially titled.

Cyclist Rides 2,500 miles to Oshkosh

“I always thought it would be neat to ride across the United States,” says Josh Wilson, a 23-year old Pathfinder from the Blue Mountain Eagles Pathfinder Club in Oregon. “It was something I’ve always wanted to do, so I did it.”

On June 20, Josh began his 2,500-mile bike ride from Walla Walla, Wash., to Oshkosh, Wis., with thoughts of Camporee in mind. Taking only his gear, a tent, several books and a 50-pound trailer hitched to his bike, Josh was more than prepared for the month-long journey.

“I thought he was crazy!” says Everly Batuik, a family friend and Pathfinder staff. “But I knew he could do it if he put his heart into it. No question.”

Each day, Josh would wake up, pack his gear and ride until he found a place to stop for breakfast. After eating, he would continue his trek and bike until evening, sometimes going until it was too dark to see. He averaged 70–100 miles a day, his farthest distance being 125 miles in one day. When it got too dark to continue, Josh would simply pitch his tent near the Interstate, in the woods or behind a tree.

“I camped out pretty much wherever there were no ‘no trespassing’ signs,” laughs Josh.

The journey took Josh through Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, South Dakota, Minnesota and all the way to Wisconsin. He reached Oshkosh about two-and-a-half weeks earlier than he planned, arriving on July 20.

When asked what he learned about himself along the trip, Josh jokes, “I learned that I could bike 2,500 miles! But seriously, I’ve learned to trust God more because there’s a ton of stuff that could’ve happened to me out there but didn’t. Sometimes, people would stop by and help me. I remember once, a trucker threw me a water bottle when I needed it. All kinds of neat stuff happened.”

Josh had several other experiences that proved God’s protection along his trip. While camping near Lake Superior one night, he woke up at 2 a.m. to loud grunting noises outside his tent. He discovered later that campers in the area were having troubles with bears. Other nights, he’d hear wolf packs howling in the woods.

“I just trusted God,” says Josh. “I asked Him to keep me safe, and I know that He did.”

Josh has been involved with Pathfinders for nearly 15 years. He plans to attend the next Oshkosh Camporee and bike there alongside other Pathfinders in his club. Other future plans include attending the University of Washington in the fall to study forestry.

Question of the Day

What was your favorite part about opening night?

Amarachi Chi-ukpai, Age 12
*Royal Knights Pathfinder Club
Houston, Texas*

"I liked the play because of the way it started off. It captured the essence of how some youth are pressured and don't know what to do."

Yasmin Sosa, Age 12
*Paradise Valley Pathfinder Club
San Diego, California*

"I mainly enjoyed watching the play because the characters acted really well and the singers were really into it. I thought it was very entertaining."

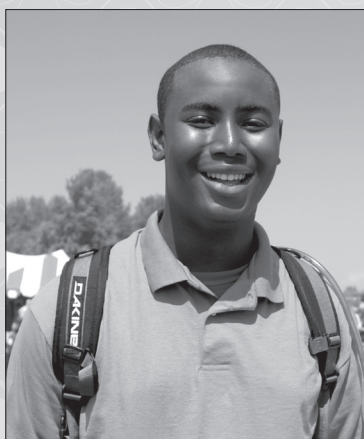

Francoise Kazeneza, Age 16
*Windsor Cougar Pathfinder Club
Ontario, Canada*

"I enjoyed the skit about Esther because it related to us. It brought modern day and olden times together."

Nacho Magana, Age 15
*Yuma Suns Pathfinder Club
Yuma, Arizona*

"I liked the play because I was really into it. I had never heard the story of Esther before, and I really like it so far."

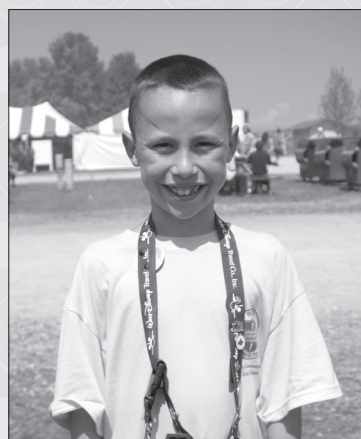

Denzel McDonald, Age 16
*Southwest Philadelphia Light Bearers Pathfinder Club
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania*

"I enjoyed the play, and I really liked Toby because he used real life stuff and made it funny. He can hang out with me anytime!"

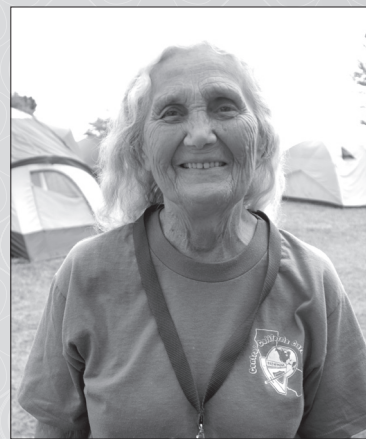

Pastor Tapiwa Zinyemba, Age 31
*East Zimbabwe Conference
Pathfinder Club, Zimbabwe*

"I enjoyed looking at the sunset during the program. Also, I liked the music, presentations and the singers. I wish I could see something like it every day."

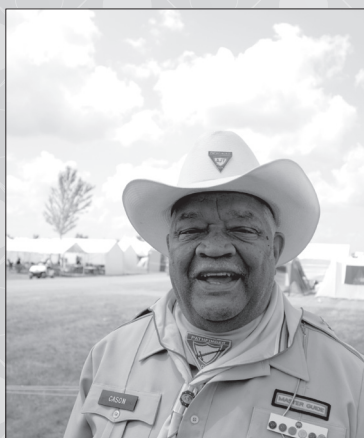

Brian Becerra, Age 9
*Ceres Light Bearers Pathfinder Club
Ceres, California*

"I liked making my race car because we got to make it however we wanted and then race them!"

Margie Brock, Age 86
*Parkwood Pacers Pathfinder Club
Central California*

"There was so much. I enjoyed the young people up front who were very willing to do what they were asked. I enjoyed the singing and acting very much."

Charles Cason, Age "Been around a day or two"
Master Guide for the Southeastern Conference, Florida

"There was so much to choose from. Everything was so good that it's too hard to choose the best!"

Joe'l Johnson, Age 16
*Tulsa Twisters Pathfinder Club
Tulsa, Oklahoma*

"I liked the puppet because he was very funny, and I also liked the drumming with the flags. That was really good."

Melody Williams, Age 10
*Gentry Travelers Pathfinder Club
Gentry, Arkansas*

"I liked the play because it was funny at some points and it told a lot about Esther's story."

Krista Mainess, Age 42
New Hope Night Hawks Pathfinder Club, Fulton, Maryland

"I enjoyed the drama a lot. It was so awesome to see a sea of Pathfinders. It brought tears to my eyes. I was so happy to see so many people doing the right thing and serving the Lord."

Pathfinders Shoot for 10,000 Scarves

Knitting scarves might seem like an odd thing to do under the August sun, but that's the requirement when you're trying to put together 10,000 of them by the time the 2010 Winter Olympic Games kick off. Scarf Ministry, a project of www.gothedistance.org, a Canadian-based outreach ministry of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, is one outlet during Camporee where Pathfinders can impact the world.

The goal of Scarf Ministry is to put together approximately 10,000 scarves to give away during the Games. Thousands of people will be trafficking the Vancouver area and Scarf Ministry seeks to minister to as many as possible with a homemade scarf. Brian Wahl, youth director for the British Columbia Conference, says, "The goal has been presented to Pathfinders and the Church to bring as many scarves as possible to Oshkosh." He also states, "We are also looking for knitters at Camporee to take the patch and tag to sew them onto the scarves donated."

The patch refers to a designed snowflake logo featuring five colors representing different components of God's gift of salvation. The logo is known as "The More Than Gold Snowflake." The patch will be attached to the donated scarves along with a tag reading, "from your friends the Seventh-day Adventists." Wahl says the design will "provide for an opportunity to share the gospel as described symbolically with the colors of the snowflake on the red scarves or bands on the black scarves."

He says to date the gathering and creation of the scarves has been assisted by over 50 Pathfinder clubs and several other ministry groups. Scarf Ministry is leaning on the help of as many Pathfinders and volunteers as possible to help stitch the patches to the scarves.

Pathfinder assistance during Camporee will provide a huge thrust for the ministry, and the website also provides information for those wanting to knit or donate a scarf after the Camporee. Scarves will be collected until January 31, 2010. Those wanting to contribute can download the scarf pattern at www.gothedistance.com.

▶ On Friday, at 7:15 a.m., a special dedication service and commissioning will take place in the Canadian section by the Ontario Conference sign. Knitting patterns will also be available at the special dedication.

Be Trashy!

See how much trash your club can pick up and be recognized as the "trashiest" club at Oshkosh. God doesn't create garbage, so let's pick it up. Photographic evidence of your club displaying the trash collected is required. Please bring photos to the On-site Communication Trailer by 1 p.m. on Friday, August 14.

The winning group will have their photo displayed in the final issue of Pathfinder Today and receive a $50 Culver's gift certificate.

The Waterboard Warriors Water Ski Show Team show takes place Thursday, August 13, at 3:30 p.m.

The club promotes family values and was created to give children an opportunity to participate in or watch a water ski show of quality, precision and fun. Organized in 1982, the Warriors have been wowing crowds for many years. Join them at Minominee Park area for a wet-n-wild adventure you'll never forget!
